32 COUNTRIES

The 32 squares in the emblem represent the 32 nations competing in the tournament field.

COMING TOGETHER

The circular, radial motif is a shared design element seen across many indigenous Australian and New Zealand cultures.

NEW ZEALAND ART PATTERN

The New Zealand pattern was created in collaboration with local textile artist, Fiona Collins. The pattern speaks to the coming together of mountains, people and cultures.

SOCCER AT THE CORE

Soccer is what brings the world together and thus a ball sits at the center of the emblem, drawing together the 32 participating nations.

FIFA WOMEN'S WORLD CUP™ TROPHY

The simplified version of the iconic silhouette of the FIFA Women's World Cup trophy is a reminder of the ultimate prize up for grabs in the tournament.

AUSTRALIAN ART PATTERN

The Australian pattern was created in collaboration with local artist Chern'ee Sutton. The traveling lines and the circles, both traditional motifs, evoke the notion of a journey and the places we must travel to and through to reach our destination.
